

Rick Evans Bio

In a world enmeshed in the concerns of managing the day-to-day difficulties we all encounter, many have become lost to an image driven society. These hopeless faces belong to parents, husbands, wives, children, pastors, musical artists, entertainers, doctors, and business owners. Success is being redefined, and the quest for it has driven many to a place of desperation. We can live without water for a several days, we can live without food for a little while, but we cannot extend life for one additional second without hope.

Rick has traveled around the world as part of Franklin Graham's crusade team and has been part of several organizations whose mission it was to reach the world with the Gospel of Jesus Christ. These organizations include The Billy Graham organization, Promise Keepers, Chuck Smith and the Calvary Chapels, Greg Laurie and the Harvest Crusades, The Classic Imperials, and many other churches and organizations down through the years. Rick's legacy also includes an earned degree in Human Development, President of his own company – Impact Inc., a Christian consulting and counseling organization.

"My greatest hope is to bring emotional and spiritual healing through restoration and reconciliation to the Body of Christ".

Through many years of experience Rick Evans is able to navigate through denominational lines and bring a clear message of hope to a world lost in the effects of an immoral and declining society. Rick's experience, education, and ability to communicate, has allowed him the freedom to fill many pulpits as a speaker and singer. From a cross denominational perspective, he is able to teach the truths in God's Word to those who are eager to be restored from the devastation life has levied against them. Familiar to the public from his many personal appearances, on both radio and television, Rick continues his quest for excellence through the many avenues God has gifted him in... As a consultant and counselor he is effective. As a pastor/teacher he is dedicated to see the restoration of God's children to complete mental, spiritual, and physical health.
